Support After Murder and Manslaughter

SAMM offers understanding and support to families and friends who have been bereaved as a result of murder and manslaughter, through the mutual support of others who have experienced a similar tragedy.

The bereaved or people wishing to find out information on how we support the traumatically bereaved should phone the Helpline.

What SAMM can do for you

Listen to you! Anything that you tell us is in complete confidence and will not be discussed with anyone else without your permission.

Give you access to an on-line forum only for families or friends who are bereaved by murder or manslaughter

Liaise with other agencies on your behalf, such as the Police, Crown Prosecution Service, Probation Service, etc.

Send you our quarterly newsletter so that you can read what other families are experiencing and be assured that you are not alone.

Run seminars and meetings to bring people together for mutual support.

Run non-religious retreats and art therapy weekends to help people work through personal issues and gain needed support.

Signpost you to other services that may be able to help you

SAMM works closely with other child bereavement charities, principally Winston’s Wish, Child Victims of Crime, Jigsaw4U and The Child Bereavement Charity and can help with referrals to these charities.
